Matrimonial

OBERHOLTZER—LOOS—At the residence of the bride Sunday, September 3, 1899, surrounded by about thirty guests, Mr. A. Oberholtzer, of Center-burg, and Mrs. C. Aminda Loos of North Liberty, O. Sister Loos has been one of our most faithful workers at North Liberty and we reluctantly see her change her residence to Centerburg. May their lives be blessed with much happiness. Ceremony by the writer. J. L. KIMMEL.

LEWIS—GUTHRIE—At the residence of the bride's parents near Ankenytown, Ohio, Sunday October 1, 1899, by the writer, surrounded by about forty guests, Mr. W. J. Lewis and sister Maud M.
Guthrie. May this noble young couple be greatly blessed in life's pathway. J. L. KIMMEL.

BEACH—BRUSS.—At the residence of the officiating minister, Buckeye City, Ohio, October 4, 1899, Mr. Ryron Beach and Miss Dora Bruss were united in holy matrimony by the writer. J. L. KIMMEL.

You Want Them Because You Need Them

EIGHT BOOKLETS FOR FIFTY CENTS

The Brethren Publication Board, Ashland, Ohio, will issue a series of eight booklets, at intervals of six weeks each during the year 1899 and 1900, the first one to be ready about November 1, 1899. The series comprises the following, not necessarily in the order given:

- Feetwashing as a Church Ordinance, J. M. Tombaugh.
- Power and the Word, G. W. Rench.
- Some Significant Tendencies of the Times, C. F. Yoder.
- Jesus and Society, J. L. Gillin.
- Theology of the Communion Service, B. C. Moomaw.
- "Let this Mind be in You," W. D. Furry.
- (Subject to be announced), J. Allen Miller.
- The Cup of Consolation, A. D. Gnagey.

When issued the price of these booklets will be uniformly ten cents each, but all advanced subscriptions will be taken at 50 cents for the series of eight booklets. No money is asked for until you are notified that one or more of the booklets are ready for delivery. If you are interested in the literature of the Brethren church (and we certainly hope you are) you cannot afford to be without this series of booklets. Subscribe now and lend a helping hand in building up a good strong literature for the Brethren church.

Give your subscription to your pastor and he will send your name and address to the Board.

Special Offer: For one new subscription at $1.50 we will send you the eight booklets free as they are issued.

Our Dead

BOND.—Charlotte T. Bond was born in New London, Mo., Dec. 27, 1827, died in Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 22, 1899, aged 71 years, 8 months, 25 days.
Her husband preceded her twenty two years. One son, three daughters, and an adopted daughter, five brothers and five sisters, one of whom is sister Fitzgerald, Masontown, Pa., another, sister Wood of this city, survive her.

The funeral sermon was preached by Brother Copp to a large congregation of mourning relatives and sympathizing friends, using the text, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them. Rev. 14: 13. Her body is resting in the Bear Creek cemetery awaiting the glorious resurrection, when those who turned many to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever and ever. Dan. 12:3.

Sister Bond a woman of more than ordinary ability, taught school in Missouri, West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio about thirty-seven years. While in the prime of life she was a frequent contributor to the Gospel Messenger, and more recently, occasionally, to the BRETHREN EVANGELIST.

About twenty five years ago when the missionary spirit dawned in the hearts of the German Baptist Brethren in the Miami Valley, Ohio, they sent one or more evangelists to Kentucky to hold a few meetings, probably a series of meetings. Under their preaching she embraced "the faith once delivered to the saints," and lived a consistent Christian life until, in the providence of God she was called from labor to reward, to the mansions above "where there is fullness of joy, and pleasures for ever more."

Hers was a consecrated life, always striving with heart and soul to honor the Lord's cause, living a life of self sacrifice for the salvation of souls and the glory of God. She was a zealous worker for the Lord, both in the church and out of it, cheerfully ministering, as God gave ability, to the temporal and spiritual needs of all with whom she came in contact; ever having a word of comfort and encouragement for the weary pilgrim on his journey heavenward.

When life's bark was tempest-tossed, and the bil-lows of sorrow and care ran high, both for herself and others, she always found a haven of rest in, All things work together for good to them that love God.
Rom. 8:28

During her four months sickness she was resigned to the will of God, whether to remain and work for him, or, to depart and be with Christ. Phil. 1:23.
It pleased the Father to take her home. Home, sweet home. No home on earth like the home in heaven.
She was a mother in Israel, the church on earth; she is a glorified saint with Christ in heaven. Called, justified, glorified. Rom. 8:30. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. Col. 3:4. "Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus." S. KIEHL.

Dayton, Ohio.

P. S.—Will the Gospel Messenger please copy all or part of this obituary as a token of respect to a former contributor, now deceased? S. K.
